FOR TOTAL ABSTINENCE. Lecture of Mr. Crowhurst at the Opera House Last Night.

The opera house was well filled last night with appreciative listeners to the lecture of William Crowhurst, grand lecturer of the Independent Order of Good Templars. Good music was furnished by the local lodge, and every in-terest manifested to make the trip of Mr. Crowhurst a fruitful one. He Mr. Crowhurst a fruitful one. He thoroughly discussed the evils of in-temperance and explained the work of the order throughout the country. He called attention to the predominance of the saloon and its fatal influence, and emphasized the necessity of total absti-there at such a time. They were sur-rounded by a crowd which included such men as John Bloodgood, Harvey Durant, W. C. Young, Isidore Wormser and a dozen others well known_on the stock exchange.

The situation in Wall street was freely discussed and all agreed it was grave beyond recent precedent. The prevailing feeling, however, was hopeful, not confident. All agreed that more liquidation was coming; the question was, how much more, thould did not talk at all. Neither did Pullman. They istened attentively, however, and went Pretty soon it became noised around that there had been a meeting of the bank presidents and that the Clearing House Association would issue $10,000. 000 in certificates of credit pro rata among the banks. This was partially confirmed by President Curran, of the Chase National Bank, who said there had been an informal meeting of several bank presidents during the afternoon, at which it was decided the machinery of the Clearing House was ample for any emergency that might grow out of the present crisis. Clearing House certificates would be issued to any bank needing such assistance.

ARTICLE III.

How a Street Was Established.

From the Tueson Citizen.

Meyer street is one of the oldest streets in Tueson, and was started under difficulties. It is named after its founder Judge Chas. H. Meyer, who in 1862 when law was a thing unknown and almost the only government was "every man for himself," the judge seeing, the coming need for such a thoroughfare hired three Mexicans to take out Mesquite posts, and starting from where Fieishman's drug store now stands laid out lines, and driving the posts 100 yards apart, declaring Meyer street a public thoroughfare. Squatters living in the vicinity objected and built a fence across it, which was removed by Meyer & Co., so quickly and emphatically that no attempt was made to rebuild them. Soon three or four houses were built facing the "street" and from the time Meyer street was a settled fact, and soon became one of the principal thoroughfares of Tueson.
